Typesetter needed for this series!
(http://goo.gl/W4ddly)

Our typesetter disappeared just like the pet tortoise your parents said to have run away, and while there is a slight chance she will come back, for now I had better begin recruiting, because ttcchen is translating the next chapter and Mii is cleaning and redrawing it.

I cannot tell what the release pace for God, you bastard... will be, because ttcchen has a busy life, but we will do our best for it to be at least steady from now on. And of course, if we have applicants chances of steady releases are higher than if there aren't.

If you would like to apply, please take our test. If you are experienced, you can point us to things you have typeset before, but we reserve the right to request that you take the test if we are not satisfied. Tests are graded very quickly and we give thorough feedback.

Our test can be found in the Join Us section at deathtollscans.net. You can also PM me there for more information, or at Batoto (nickname Kendama).
